Dear Sir or Madam,

The reopening of Dunleer Railway Station has been removed as an objective in the Council's development. Years ago there were more banks and a train station. Now there will be no banks and no railway station - it appears that Dunleer is going backwards despite growing in size and population.

Dunleer is a hub for many outlying areas and is a feeder towards larger towns and, in line with the current trend on environmental vigilance, surely it would make sense to promote public transport such as railways.
