Hi,

I am extremely concerned about the proposed development land as outlined in the draft plan.

Omeath is a small village with a lot of history and family longevity in the area. Generations living in the village. Your proposed plan will put a stop to this.

Saying that only farmers with a certain acreage will be aloud to apply is totally wrong. In my case I own a small bit of land which I hope my eldest son wants to build on within the next few years. The land is rented to a farmer and he uses it at present. My son under these new restrictions will not be allowed to build on this land. Both my family and my wife's family are long established residents of the village and therefore the new scheme is totally unfair to my son.

I hope the decision is taken to change the boundary's and conditions of planning in the village of Omeath.
