To whom it may concern

I am emailing in relation to the Louth draft development plan for housing.

I have huge concerns about how it will impact the housing and planning in my local area. At present I am already in the process of getting plans together for building a house in my local area and hope this development plan will not go against that.

From what I have heard about the plans, the criteria for being able to build a house is not reasonable as many families in rural areas would have bought small pieces of land for the sole purpose of their family members building houses and growing up in the area. The draft plan seems to be against families staying in their local area which they have been in for generations. I myself would be the 3rd or 4th generation to live in my local area and be part of the community. If the draft plan goes ahead and I am not able to build in the local area, I will have to move elsewhere which I would rather not do. I have grown up in the area and wish to have my own family do the same.

I ask that your review the plan and agree more reasonable terms for building in the area for the likes of people who have a strong connection to the area and wish to continue improving the area and community.

Kind Regards,
Ian
