To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to state my objection to the Draft County Development plan, in particular to rural housing.

I live in the countryside and believe that people who have their own land should be allowed to build on it, within reasonable guidelines. I have two children and would like to think that when they grow up they would be afforded the chance to build near us if they wish.

My own brother recently was denied planning permission on my grandmother's land which I believe is totally unacceptable. He wanted to build a house near where my ageing parents live, to be close to them and is now unable to do so.

I also believe that the lack of housing development allowed in this new draft plan will have a detrimental effect on the local communities. There will be a decreasing number of new school entrants which would result in a loss of teaching staff, less consumers for local businesses and a decrease in numbers for local GAA clubs.

I hope you consider the points I have raised when deciding upon your development plan.

Kind regards,

Àine Marks
