Specification and Instructions to repair and keep in repair until

Road from to

The repairs to be commenced immediately after the ensuing Assizes, and to be proceeded with without intermission until the road is put in specified order.

The road is to have a clear carriage way as wide as the existing fences or grips will permit, but in no place to be less than feet wide clear of banks, drains, and fences, and feet wide with broken stone or prepared gravel: where less, the road is to be brought to these widths,

In Towns and Villages the road is to be kept in repair from water-table to water-table with broken stone.

Louth County Archives

The road to be brought to a regular curvilineal slope from the centre to the sides on the cross sections; the whole fall, from the centre or crown, to be at the rate of one in fifty; comparatively flat at the crown, but steeper at the shoulders, all inequalities to be reduced by picking the high parts, and applying the material to the low parts, as may be required. The sides and water-tables are to be neatly defined by continuous lines parallel to the centre of the road, and free from sudden bends. The fall at the shoulders not to exceed one in eighteen.

Along declivities, particular attention will be required in keeping the cross section perfect.

Outlets, or pipes, to be made through the fences, to carry off the water from where it would otherwise lodge on the water-tables, into the adjacent grips, fields, or watercourses.

Inlets to be made in like cases to convey the water into the next gullet, sewer, or water way under bridge.

Along declivities, outlets are not to be farther apart than ten perches; inlets are to be made into all cross drains, or gullets; all grips on the field side of the fences, and water drains, if any, to be kept open to allow a free passage for the water, and keep its surface at least two feet under the crown of the road.

Where paved water-tables are in existence, as in streets and declivities, they are to be repaired and preserved. The water-tables, shoulders, and sides of the road to be kept constantly free from all nuisances.

All stones appearing in the road, exceeding two and a-half inches in diameter, to be picked up, taken aside, made into heaps, and broken.

The road to be kept free from mud by scraping—the scrapings when sufficiently dry, to be carted off, unless required to fill grips along the road, or complete the fences.

In Towns and Villages the scrapings are to be immediately removed in mud carts, kept or provided by the contractor for that purpose.

cubic yards at least of broken stone or prepared gravel to be used on the road per perch, for year the stones to be broken so as to pass an inch and a-half ring, to be laid down as shall be directed.

The most durable materials to be had in the neighbourhood to be used; the hardest and toughest are best. No soft stone, shale, or pencil, to be used in any place for repairs.

When gravel is the material used, it is to be screened so as no stone shall exceed one and a half inch, or be less than half-an-inch in its greatest and least dimensions; the screening larger than one and a-half are to be preserved and broken to pass an inch and a-half-inch ring.

After the road is scraped, the weak portions are to be darned with sufficient quantity of broken stone or prepared gravel, and a preparation made by picking the crust of the road to be darned that the new materials may combine smoothly with the road and form a regular surface. In darning, the stones are to laid close and in contact with each other. Particular attention will be required in breaking and sorting gravel used for darning.

When the road is gridironed or cut into longitudinal ruts, the contractor will be required to lay on a full coat of material over the portion gridironed after picking or raking, and not merely fill the ruts as is usual.

The contractor will be required to put along the road, or place in depots, the quantity of material specified (Section 13) on or before the 1st day of year, to be measured by the Surveyor's Assistant. The stones to be arranged in narrow heaps, not exceeding two feet in width, close to the fences, and containing about a yard each.

All existing gullets, drains, and grips on the field side to be kept in repair and free for the water to pass through. In case of a sudden damage occurring along the line, the contractor is to give the Surveyor notice to that effect, describing the nature of the damage, within at least one week after it occurs. The fences along the line, and slopes to be kept in repair. The battlements or parapets of bridges on the road to be protected and kept in their present repair, or as they may be hereafter repaired. The contractor to cut down and remove all weeds growing along the road between the fences.

Contractor to keep the road constantly free from nuisances, and to summon and prosecute all offending parties, under the 6th & 7th Wm. 4, Chap. 116, Sec. 159. In case of injury to the road, by trees or hedges, the contractor is to require the owner of the land to prune them. The parties are to be summoned before the Justices at Petty Sessions in case of non-compliance within ten days. Sec. 161, same Act.

The contractor is to deliver up the road at the expiration of his contract in good repair as above defined, and at any time during the existence of his contract to attend to and carry into effect any further instructions the Surveyor may find it necessary to give for the due repair and preservation of the road.

Dated this 185

JOHN NEVILLE,
County Surveyor of Louth.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

Gentlemen,

The applications for presentments at this Assizes are of the usual nature. The entire amount sought for new works, and for the repair of roads not under contract for the past year is £417 14s. 5d., which is divided over the baronies as follows:—

Ferrard, ...	124	5	0
Ardee, ...	83	1	4
Louth, ...	0	2	0
Upper Dundalk, ...	142	7	4
Lower Dundalk, ...	67	18	9
	£417	14	5

I shall call your attention to the special presentments which make up these sums as the applications come in detail before you. The other applications on the schedule are for continuing for three years, the repairs of those roads the contracts for which expire at this Assizes.

The contract roads in the Baronies of Drogheda, Ferrard, Ardee, Louth, and Upper Dundalk are, generally, in fair repair. The only exceptions which it is necessary to mention here are the portion of post road from Drogheda to Collon held by Patrick Crilly, and the post road from Dundalk to Knockbridge, the traffic on this road is, however, increasing very rapidly as a considerable portion of the former traffic on the turnpike-road from Dundalk to Carrickmacross is now diverted to it. In the Barony of Lower Dundalk there are a few contractors whose names it will be necessary for me to lay before you in order that legal proceedings may be taken against them. Several of the new contracts in this barony were not tendered for at the late road sessions, but in the other baronies the competition was as great as usual.

As I have found by experience that it is next to impossible to get contractors to prepare pit-gravel or sea-beach properly for road repairs, I have gradually for some time past, and in the specifications for roads now coming before you, substituted broken stones, and broken pebbles for prepared gravel. The latter has heretofore cost the county nearly as much as the former, and the cess-payers seem to consider with me that the increased expense of broken stone is more than compensated for in the greater value of the material, and in the greater amount of employment which breaking it gives to the labouring classes.

The statistics of county works during the past year exhibit a more favourable aspect than I could reasonably wish for. The amount presented in 1850 for road works including the expenses of my office was £7896 2s. 2d., while that presented in 1851 was only £6136 10s. 10d., which gives a balance of £1579 11s. 4d. in favor of the expenditure during the latter year. The number of miles of road under repairs and maintenance in those years were as follows:

Year.	Mileage. M.	F.	P.	Expenditure. £	s.	d.
1851 -	471	1	20 -	4899	4	3

there is, therefore, an increase of eight miles in the contract roads during the past year, and a decrease in the whole expenditure thereon of £944 15s. 3d. When I said that the saving is greater than I could reasonably wish for I meant to convey that some contracts were taken at prices under the fair value, though it is a curious fact that in those baronies where the competition is greater the roads are generally better kept than in those where it is less, though particular contracts sometimes form exceptions.

The amount represented in aid of the Cess during the past year was £527 9s. 8d.

The proper classification of the County roads has occupied my attention for some time past, and it appears to me that a natural and simple classification can now be easily effected, as the roads of the respective baronies have been gradually arranged into contract divisions, which work very well. I propose that each of the contract roads shall be printed and arranged according to its baronial-class in the county book, the first-class roads to be printed first, the second-class next and so on; and that every division of road, whether under contract or not, shall be printed in its proper place as to class, with an abridged description when out of contract. In the county book as it is now printed the contracts are not arranged, the first-class roads being sometimes last, and the last class first in each barony, and it affords no information as to the roads not under contract It may be objected to the proposed plan that the printing of roads out of contract would involve increased expense, but this expense would be small, as only a few roads would be out of contract from time to time, and the information conveyed would be very valuable; and as I shall show that a considerable saving can be effected in the printing of other portions of the warrant, to the amount of fully one-half, any objection as to expense cannot hold.

The presentments in the warrant are at present numbered from one upwards. including in the regular numeration the undischarged queries. The result of this system is that the same presentmeut or work has different numbers attached to it in different warrants. It appears to me more in accordance with the 48th section of the Grand Jury Act, and with simplicity that the presentments should be numbered only once when first made, and that the number designating any presentment, in any barony, should afterwards attach to that presentment as an undischarged query. If this arrangement were adopted the numbers designating the presentments would also naturally designate the classes, unless where the contracts for the second half-year intervened, and in order to take in these double, or index numbers may be easily adopted.

The number of undischarged queries in the barony of Ardee in the last warrant is 61, and the number of new presentments 29. That the latter should be printed in full, for the information of the cess-payers, is evident, for it is in virtue of these that the money is levied, and it appears fair that the fullest information should be given respecting them; but it is unnecessary to print in full the 61 undischarged queries. The original number of a query, the contractor's name, and even a short description of the work, would answer as well as a re-print; the contrast thus obtained between the printing of the undischarged queries and the new presentments would be a distinguishing sign of each, and the saving effected would amount, for this barony, to one-half. I have taken Ardee Barony as the first in the book by way of example, and to show that the classification and alterations which I suggest in the county book can be effected without expense.

The Dublin and Belfast Junction Railway Company in breach of the agreement entered into with me by them, through their Engineer, Mr. Bunting, in 1848, have built one of the abutments of the viaduct near Drogheda, on the Drogheda and Termonfeckin road, and diverted the roadway at the crossing. The contractor was summoned to the Termonfeckin Petty Sessions, but the case was there dismissed. I have been since informed, by the Company, that the Railway Department of the Board of Trade have, ex post facto, given permission for the diversion, but proceedings are yet pending for penalties in the superior courts.

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE.

drains, and fences, and feet wide with broken stone or prepared gravel: where less, the road is to be brought to these widths,

In Towns and Villages the road is to be kept in repair from water-table to water-table with broken stone

The road to be brought to a regular curvilineal slope from the centre to the sides on the cross sections; the whole fall, from the centre or crown to be at the rate of one in fifty; comparatively flat at the crown but steeper at the shoulders, all inequalities to be reduced by picking the high parts, and applying the material to the low parts. as may be required. The sides and water-tables are to be neatly defined by continuous lines parallel to the centre of the road, and free from sudden bends. The fall at the shoulders not to exceed one in eighteen.

Along declivities, particular attention will be required in keeping the cross section perfect.

Outlets or pipes to be made through the fences to carry off the water from where it would otherwise lodge on the water-tables, into the adjacent grips, fields, or water-courses.

Inlets to be made in like cases to convey the water into the next gullet, sewer or water-way under bridge.

Along declivities outlets are not to be farther apart than ten perches; inlets are to be made into all cross drains, or gullets; all grips on the field side of the fences, and water-drains, if any, to be kept open to allow a free passage for the water, and keep its surface at least two feet under the crown of the road.

Where paved water tables are in existence, as in streets and declivities, they are to be repaired and preserved. The water-tables, shoulders, and sides of the road to be kept constantly free from all nuisances.

All stones appearing in the road exceeding two and a-half inches in diameter, to be picked up, taken aside, made into heaps, and broken,

The road to be kept free from mud by scraping—the scrapings, when sufficiently dry, to be carted off, unless required to fill grips along the road, or complete the fences.

In Towns and Villages the scrapings are to be immediately removed in mud carts, kept or provided by the contractor for that purpose.

cubic yards at least of broken stone or prepared gravel to be used on the road per perch, for year the stones to be broken so as to pass an inch and a-half ring, to be laid down as shall be directed.

The most durable materials to be had in the neighborhood to be used; the hardest and toughest are best. No soft stone, shale, or pencil to be used in any place for repairs,

When gravel is the material used, it is to be screened so as no stone shall exceed one and a-half inch, or be less than half-an-inch in its greatest and least dimension; the screening larger than one and a-half are to be preserved and broken to pass an inch and a-half-inch ring.

After the road is scraped, the weak portions are to be darned with sufficient quantity of broken stone or prepared gravel, and a preparation made by picking the crust of the road to be darned that the new materials may combine smoothly with the road and form a regular surface. In darning, the stones are to be laid close and in contact with each other. Particular attention will be required in breaking and sorting gravel used for darning,

When the road is gridironed or cut into longitudinal ruts, the contractor will be required to lay on a full coat of material over the portion gridironed after picking or raking and not merely fill the ruts as is usual.

The contractor will be required to put out along the road, or place in depots, the quantity of material specified (Section 13) on or before the 1st day of year, to be measured by the Surveyor's Assistant, The stones to be arranged in narrow heaps, not exceeding two feet in width, close to the fences, and containing about a yard each,

All existing gullets, drains, and grips on the field side to be kept in repair and free for the water to pass through, In case of a sudden damage occuring along the line, the contractor, is to give the Surveyor notice to that effect, describing the nature of the damage, within at least one week after it occurs. The fences along the line, and slopes to be kept in repair. The battlements or parapets of bridges on the road to be protected and kept in their present repair, or as they may be hereafter repaired. The contractor to cut down and remove all weeds growing along the road between the fences.

Contractor to keep the road constantly free from nuisances, and to summon and prosecute all offending parties, under the 6th & 7th Wm. 4th Chap. 115, Sec. 159. In case of injury to the road, by trees or hedges, the contractor is to require the owner of the land to prune them. The parties are to be summoned before the Justices at Petty Sessions in case of non-compliance within ten days. Sec 161, same Act.

The contractor is to deliver up the road at the expiration of his contract in good repair as above defined, and at any time during the existance of his contract to attend to and carry into effect any further instructions the Surveyor may find it necessary to give for the due repair and preservation of the road.

County Surveyor of Louth.

Louth County

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of the County of Louth, assembled for Summer Assizes 1852.

Gentlemen,

The amounts applied for Works, on the County at Large, and the respective baronies, at this Assizes are as follows :—

County at Large, ...	£5	6	5
Barony of Drogheda, ...	9	1	5
Barony of Ferrard, ...	74	16	11
Barony of Ardee, ...	34	12	1
Barony of Louth, ...	13	18	4
Barony of Upper Dundalk	107	13	9
Barony of Lower Dundalk, ...	509	18	3
Total.	£755	7	2

The applications are of the usual nature, and principally for the maintenance and repairs of roads. They are now arranged for the first time in the order of class in the schedule; the first class being placed first, the second next, and so on. This arrangement will enable you at a glance to perceive the class of each road, to know the number of roads under Spring and Summer contracts in each Barony, and also those which are out of contract, and their class; for as every road in the County is designated by a number in the order of class, the omission of any number in the Spring or Summer books, shows that the road designated by it is out of contract. A slight mistake, however, has occurred in arranging the numbers of the new contracts, which can be remedied in printing the warrant, and in future schedules.

The only application amongst those for new works, which it is necessary for me to draw your attention to, is that for making 40 perches of a new road, between the railway at Faughart and the old turnpike road, in the barony of Lower Dundalk. The land was expected free of purchase for this work, but it is now probable that the County may have to pay for it, the question of purchase of site will have to be considered when the application comes before you.

In my report for Spring Assizes last, I shewed that a reduction of about £1000 took place in the expenditure on the repairs and maintenance of County roads in 1851, below that of the preceding year, and I believe I can now state that this reduction in the expenditure will continue permanent as almost every road of any importance in the County is now under contract of maintenance.

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN NEVILLE

The repairs to be commenced immediately after the ensuing Assizes, and to be proceeded with without intermission until the road is put in specified order.

Louth County Archives

The road is to have a clear Carriage way as wide as the existing fences or grips will permit, but in no place to be less than feet wide clear of banks, drains, and fences, and feet wide with broken stone or prepared gravel: where less. the road is to be brought to these widths.

In Towns and Villages the road is to be kept in repair from water table to water-table with broken stone.

The road to be brought to a regular curvilineal slope from the centre to the sides on the cross sections; the whole fall, from the centre or crown to be at the rate of one in fifty; comparatively flat at the crown but steeper at the shoulders, all inequalities to be reduced by picking the high parts, and applying the material to the low parts, as may be required. The sides and water-tables are to be neatly defined by continuous lines parallel to the centre of the road, and free from sudden bends. The fall at the shoulders not to exceed one in eighteen.

Along declivities, particular attention will be required in keeping the cross section perfect.

Outlets or pipes to be made through the fences to carry off the water from where it would otherwise lodge on the water-tables, into the adjacent grips, fields, or water-course.

Inlets to be made in like cases to convey the water into the next gullet, sewer or water-way under bridge.

Along declivities outlets are not to be farther apart than ten perches; inlets are to be made into all cross drains, or gullets; all grips on the field side of the fences, and water-drains, if any, to be kept open to allow a free passage for the water, and keep its surface at least two feet under the crown of the road.

Where paved water tables are in existence, as in streets and declivities, they are to be repaired and preserved. The water-tables, shoulders, and sides of the road to be kept constantly free from all nuisances.

All stones appearing in the road exceeding two and a-half inches in diameter, to be picked up, taken aside, made into heaps and broken.

The road to be kept free from mud by scraping—the scrapings, when sufficiently dry, to be carted off, unless required to fill grips along the road, or complete the fences.

In Towns and Villages the scrapings are to be immediately removed in mud carts, kept or provided by the contractor for that purpose.

cubic yards at least of broken stone or prepared gravel to be used on the road per perch, for year the stones to be broken so as to pass an inch and a-half ring, to be laid down as shall be directed.

The most durable materials to be had in the neighbourhood to be used; the hardest and toughest are best. No soft stone, shale, or pencil to be used in any place for repairs.

When gravel is the material used, it is to be screened so as no stone shall exceed one and a-half inch, or be less than half-an-inch in its greatest and least dimensions; the screening larger than one and a-half are to be preserved and broken to pass an inch and a-half-inch ring.

After the road is scraped, the weak portions are to be darned with sufficient quantity of broken stone or prepared gravel, and a preparation made by picking the crust of the road to be darned that the new materials may combine smoothly with the road and form a regular surface. In darning, the stones are to be laid close and in contact with each other. Particular attention will be required in breaking and sorting gravel used for darning.

When the road is gridironed or cut into longitudinal ruts, the contractor will be required to lay on a full coat of material over the portion gridironed after picking or raking and not merely fill the ruts as is usual.

The contractor will be required to put out along the road, or place in depots, the quantity of material specified (Section 13) on or before the 1st day of February, each year, to be measured by the Surveyor's Assistant. The stones to be arranged in narrow heaps, not exceeding two feet in width, close to the fences and containing about a yard each.

All existing gullets, drains, and grips on the field side to be kept in repair and free for the water to pass through. In case of a sudden damage occuring along, the line, the contractor, is to give the Surveyor notice to that effect, describing the nature of the damage, within at least one week after it occurs. The fences along the line, and slopes to be kept in repair. The battlements or parapets of bridges on the road to be protected and kept in their present repair, or as they may be hereafter repaired. The contractor to cut down and remove all weeds growing along the road between the fences.

Contractor to keep the road constantly free from nuisances, and to summon and prosecute all offending parties, under the 6th & 7th Wm. 4th Chap. 116, Sec. 159. In case of injury to the road, by trees or hedges, the contractor is to require the owner of the land to prune them. The parties are to be summoned before the Justices at Petty Sessions in case of non-compliance within ten days. Sec 161, same Act.

The contractor is to deliver up the road at the expiration of his contract in good repair as above defined, and at any time during the existence of his contract to attend to and carry into effect any further instructions the Surveyor may find it necessary to give for the due repair and preservation of the road.

Dated this day of 185

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of Louth, assembled at Spring Assizes, 1853.

Gentlemen.

No new works of any importance appear on the schedule for this Assizes, the applications are of the usual kind, and there are none requiring Special attention in this report.

The roads under contract are generally in pretty good order throughout the County, those from Dundalk to Knockbridge particularly as far as the Workhouse, and from Drogheda to Collon for about two miles and a-half have not, however been properly attended to and must refuse certificates to the Contractors.

The mileage of roads under repairs and contracts of maintenance continue to increase annually. In 1849, 420 miles 5 furlongs and 16½ perches were repaired and maintained at an expense of £5336 15s. 4d.—In 1850, 463 miles 2 furlongs and 4 perches, at an expense of £5743 19s. 6d.—In 1851, 471 miles 1 furlong and 20 perches at an expense of £4899 4s. 3d.—In 1852, 501 miles 2 furlongs and 0 perches at an expense of £5430 2s. 5d.

The total expenditure connected with my office was £7491, in 1849—£7896 in 1850,—£6317 in 1851—and £7564 in 1852. It appears from an examination of the above figures that the mileage has again increased during the past year, by 30 miles and the cost of repairs and maintenance by £531, which averages nearly 1s. 2d. per perch on the extra mileage.

The average cost per perch, for the repairs and maintenance of all roads ... In 1849, was 9½d.
" 1850, " 9⅓
" 1851, " 7¾
" 1852, " 8⅓

This being a coast County, of comparatively narrow width and having large Towns of export and import along it, I do not think much reduction below an average of 7d. or 8d. per perch, will be permanently effected in the cost of repairs, until some improvement takes place in the present law.

I am Gentlemen,
Your obt., Servt.
JOHN NEVILLE, County Surveyor.

Blank Copy of County Surveyor's Specification for Repairs of Roads Ordered to be printed in Grand Warrant.

COUNTY OF LOUTH.

Barony of No. S Assizes, 185

Specification and Instructions to repair and keep in repair until Assizes, 185 Perches of the Road from to between and

The repairs to be commenced immediately after the ensuing Assizes, and to be proceeded with without intermission until the road is put in specified order.

The road is to have a clear Carriage way as wide as the existing fences or grips will permit, but in no place to be less than feet wide clear of banks drains, and fences, and feet wide with broken stone or prepared gravel, where less, the road is to be brought to these widths by widening.

In Towns and Villages the road is to be kept in repair from water table to water-table with broken stone.

The road to be brought to a regular curvilineal slope from the centre to the sides on the cross sections; the whole fall, from the centre or crown to be at the rate of one in fifty; comparatively flat at the crown but steeper at the shoulders, all inequalities to be reduced by picking the high parts, and applying the material to the low parts, as may be required. The sides and water-tables are to be neatly defined by continuous lines parallel to the centre of the road, and free from sudden bends. The fall at the shoulders not to exceed one in eighteen.

Along declivities, particular attention will be required in keeping the cross section perfect.

Outlets or pipes to be made through the fences to carry off the water from where it would otherwise lodge on the water-tables, into the adjacent grips, fields, or water-courses.

Inlets to be made in like cases to convey the water into the next gullet, sewer or water-way under bridge.

Along declivities, outlets are not to be farther apart than ten perches; inlets are to be made into all cross drains, or gullets; all grips on the field side of the fences, and water-drains, if any, to be kept open to allow a free passage for the water, and keep its surface at least two feet under the crown of the road.

Where paved water tables are in existence, as in streets and declivities, they are to be repaired and preserved. The water-tables, shoulders, and sides of the road to be kept constantly free from all nuisances or obstructions.

All stones appearing in the road exceeding two and a-half inches in diameter, to be picked up, taken aside, made into heaps, broken, and then spread on the parts they were first removed from.

The road to be kept free from mud by scraping—the scrapings, when sufficiently dry, to be carted off, unless required to fill grips along the road, or complete the fences.

In Towns and Villages the scrapings are to be immediately removed in mud or other carts, provided by the contractor for that purpose.

cubic yards at least of broken stone or prepared gravel to be used on the road per perch, for year the stones to be broken so as to pass an inch and a-half ring, to be laid down as shall be directed.

The most durable materials to be had in the neighbourhood to be used; the hardest and toughest are best. No soft stone, shale, or pencil to be used in any place for repairs.

When gravel is the material used, it is to be screened so as no stone shall exceed one and a-half inch, or be less than half-an-inch in its greatest and least dimensions; the screening larger than one and a-half inch in diameter are to be preserved and broken to pass an inch and a-half-inch ring

After the road is scraped, the weak portions are to be darned with sufficient quantity of broken stone or prepared gravel, and a preparation made by picking the crust of the road to be darned that the new materials may combine smoothly with the road and form a regular surface. In darning, the stones are to be laid close and in contact with each other. Particular attention will be required in breaking and sorting gravel used for darning.

When the road is gridironed or cut into longitudinal ruts, the contractor will be required to lay on a full coat of material over the portion gridironed after picking or raking and not merely fill the ruts as is usual.

The contractor will be required to put out along the road, or place in depots, the whole quantity of material specified (Section 13) before the 1st day of November, in each year, for measurement by the Surveyor's Assistant.

The stones to be arranged in narrow heaps, not exceeding two feet in width close to the fences and containing about a cubic yard each. The full quantity to be spread before the 1st day of February in each year. The value of two cubic yards will be deducted from the amount of the contract for each cubic yard remaining unspread afterwards.

All existing gullets, drains, and grips on the field side to be kept in repair and free for the water to pass through. In case of a sudden damage occurring along the line, the contractor, is to give the Surveyor notice to that effect, describing the nature of the damage, within at least one week after it occurs. The fences along the line and slopes of cuttings and embankments to be kept in repair. The battlements or parapets of bridges on the road to be protected and kept in their present repair, or as they may be hereafter repaired. The contractor to cut down and remove all weeds growing along the road on and between the fences, before seed time. Sea slopes and pavements to be kept in repair along coast roads.

Contractor to keep the road constantly free from nuisances, and to summon and prosecute all offending parties, under the 6th & 7th Wm. 4, Chap. 116. Sec. 159. In case of injury to the road, by trees or hedges, the contractor is to require the owner of the land to prune them. The parties are to be summoned before the Justices at Petty Sessions in case of non-compliance within ten days. Sec. 161, same Act.

The contractor is to deliver up the road at the expiration of his contract in good repair as above defined, and at any time during the existence of his contract, to attend to and carry into effect any further instructions the Surveyor may find it necessary to give for the due repair and preservation of the road.

COUNTY SURVEYOR'S REPORT.

To the Grand Jury of Louth, assembled at Summer Assizes, 1853.

Gentlemen,

The application for works at this Assizes, are of the usual kind, they do not call for any remarks farther than what may be necessary when the Presentments come seperately before you,

In arranging the contract roads of maintenance according to class the Magistrates and Cess-payers at road Sessions agreed with me in recommending that the first and second class roads and those immediately following in each Barony should be brought into Spring contracts, and the remaining roads into Summer contracts, but so as that the Spring levy may be only from one-third to one-half of that required for the year. The numbers attached to the contracts will then run on in order from the Spring through the Snmmer Warrants of each year, and the sums to be levied can be made to bear any approved proportion in each Barony for the Spring and Summer levies,

An accusation has been brought against One of the Assistants at a late road Sessions, I shall lay the facts before your Committee at the proper moment,

The County roads are generally in fair repair and have been pretty well attended to since the last Assizes,

Some Applications for expenditure on County Bridges under the Arterial drainage acts appear on the Schedule, In the case of the Annagasson bridge it seems unfair to tax the County for an expenditure the County did not require; it might be best to postpone this Presentment until the next Assizes, and in the mean time, apply to the Board of Works for the necessary explanation,

I have the honour to be Gentlemen,

Your obt. Servt.

JOHN NEVILLE,
