

What is Land Use Zoning?

Land use zoning is the method by which the Planning Authority facilitates development by defining what land may be used for what purpose, i.e. residential, retail, industrial, agricultural, recreational etc. A land use zoning map should always be read in conjunction with a land use zoning matrix table which states exactly what type of development is permitted, open for consideration or not permitted in each zone.